SOUNDS LIKE MAGIC

“CRYSTAL AIR”
and
“THE WAND”
What are they?

Most patients have worries when the word ‘dentist’ is mentioned, most commonly injections and the drill. At the practice we strive to alleviate these worries. “The Wand” is a little like a pen that introduces anaesthetic at a slow rate (computer controlled). This really reduces discomfort as well as numbing a much smaller area.

The Air Abrasion Technique “Crystal Air” can in many cases replace the use of the conventional drill. It works by combining a jet of air with microabrasive powder, the tiny particles travel at speed and can easily remove the decay. The patient feels no sensation of vibration or heat and the machine is virtually silent unlike the traditional drill!

Dentistry has come a long way since the overhead drill!!!

Thank Goodness.

A PAIN IN THE NECK

André has recently been on a two day seminar in London where neck pain (in all its manifestations) and headaches were the topics.

Fitting a small dental brace / splint / orthotic can do so much to alleviate neck pain. It alters the pitch of the head on the neck and reduces neck tension and pain significantly.

This simple treatment working in conjunction with physiotherapists, osteopaths and chiropractors can eliminate neck pain.

NEW ENVIRONMENT

You will have noticed all the updating and refurbishment that has been happening at the practice over the last year or so.

The aim was to make an airy, bright and comfortable space for both patients and staff. We think that we have achieved that aim and hope you like it too.

TRIVIA CORNER

You know how important teeth are to humans – the same is true of elephants.

Elephants have only four molars (two uppers and two lowers) and two tusks (their front teeth). They have and lose six different sets of molars in their lifetime. Many in the wild die after they have worn out the last set.

An elephant with tooth trouble can experience dramatic weight loss – as much as 400lbs.

Thank you for the many referrals we have received recently. We value your confidence in our dental practice. We always welcome new patients. Do you know anyone who has had a bad dental experience or who is just too nervous to book an appointment. If you think we could help, do encourage them to contact us. Maybe they would like to have a copy of our practice brochure or even book a first consultation – no treatment on that first visit – that's a promise!
